Mr. B. C. Milam tendered his resignation as Chairman of the board of councilmen, which was accepted.

Mr. Geo. A. Lewis was then elected to the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Mr. Milam.

Mr. Milam then resigned as a member of the board of councilmen, and his resignation was accepted.

Mr. J. M. Todd was then elected to the above vacancy, created by the resignation of B. C. Milam.

Mr. Hendrick moved that when the council adjourned it be to Thursday night at 7:00 o'clock. Adopted.

Mr. Miles moved that the bids be referred to the city engineer, with directions to report the lowest and best bidder to the council Thursday night. Adopted.

Mr. J. E. Miles, by permission of the council, made a few remarks on parting from his old friends, saying that some of the pleasantest moments of his life had been spent while in their company at the meetings, and that they separated in an official capacity with his heart full of love for all of them.

Mr. Milam also thanked the council for their uniform courtesy to him as their presiding officer.

The council then adjourned until Thursday night at 7 o'clock.

Wm. H. Wheeler,

A prominent contractor and builder, Adams, N. Y., was a great smoker for years. He liked his cigar but did not like the serious throat trouble that began to come upon him in the latter half of his烟。 As he expressed it he was afraid he was going to have a Grant throat. At this stage he began using Dr. Hale's Household Ointment, applying it directly to the bunch inside his mouth, two drams each day. After a few weeks of this treatment he cured the bad throat and Mr. Wheeler states that it worked a most wonderful cure in his case and that he regards Dr. Hale's Household Ointment as the greatest medicine of the 19th century. It cures all inflammation, 25c. and 50c. boxes at P. H. CARPENTER'S drug store.

New Falling on His Face.

Mr. Walter Franklin was standing in the court-house yard Monday morning talking to his son Walter, when he was attacked with vertigo, and had his son not caught him in his arms would have fallen upon his face on the brick pavement of the yard. He was unconscious for some time but was finally brought around and taken to his home on Steele street, where he fully recovered and was all right again in a few hours.

Captain Sweeney, U. S. A., San Diego, Cal., says: "Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy is the first medicine I have ever found that would do me any good." Price 50 cents. Sold by W. McKeown Hardie.

In Memoriam.

BACON.—At her home, February 3, 1893, Sister Sarah Bacon, aged seventy-eight years.

She was immersed into the church of Christ by Rev. Carroll Kendrick forty-three years ago, and lived a faithful Christian life ever since. She had been a constant reader of the Leader since its beginning. The Lord had prospered her with much of this world's goods, in which she spent much in the cause of Christ. She leaves a brother and sister (L. M. Bacon and Mary Bacon), both old and feeble; but they mourn not the departure of their beloved sister as those who have no hope. They were formerly of Frankfort, Ky.

Feb. 10. MOLLIE DANIEL.

BACON.—On Monday, the 26th of this month, I was called to Rogers, Ark., to conduct the funeral services of Bro. L. M. Bacon. He and his two sisters and nephew came to Arkansas less than a year ago. They had been here but a little while when Sister Sarah Bacon died, and now the brother, which leaves the other aged sister and the nephew alone. No words of praise can add to the high esteem with which all who know them regard them. They are especially known to the Leader by many kind deeds of a substantial nature. Bro. Bacon was seventy-six years of age; had been a consistent Christian during the years he was a member of the church. May the comforting promises of God's word strengthen the lonely sister, and may the church have many more who will so live that they can die such a death, with the same assurance of final happiness that Bro. Bacon had.

JOHN T. HINDS.

Fayetteville, Ark.

The above, which was copied from the Christian Leader of Cincinnati, of March 21st and Oct. 17th last of the deaths at Rogers, Ark., of two former well-known and most highly respected citizens of Frankfort, will probably convey to their friends among our older population the first intelligence of their respective deaths. The intelligence will be received with sad regret by all who enjoyed the friend-hip or acquaintance of either Miss Sarah or her brother, Mr. L. M. Bacon, during their long residence in this city, of which both were natives. Their father, Mr. Langston Bacon, Sr., was for many years a prominent merchant and valuable and highly esteemed citizen of Frankfort. The Bacons, through their father and mother, were related to a number of the earlier and influential families of Frankfort and Franklin county, in both of which a portion of their descendants still reside and are numbered among our most respected citizens. After the retirement of their father from business, Mr. L. M. Bacon and his older brother, Giles S. Bacon, engaged in the dry goods business in this city, the firm soon conducting one of the largest, most fashionable and successful mercantile establishments in the city. By strict attention to business, sound judgment, uniform politeness and unswerving integrity, the two brothers rapidly acquired handsome estates, which enabled them to retire from active business several years before their removal with the other members of the family to Missouri in the early 50's. The elder brother, Giles S., died near Booneville,

Mo., before the late war. His remains, as also those of one or two other members of the family at later dates, were brought to Frankfort and interred in the Bacon lot in our beautiful cemetery. Until within the last year Mr. L. M. Bacon, with several of his sisters, to whose comfort, interests and welfare he most unselfishly consecrated the greater part of his long life, continued to reside at different points in Missouri. It is not known exactly when he and his two sisters, Misses Sarah and Mary, removed to Arkansas, or what caused their last change of residence. But it is supposed that the hope of bettering the health of all three, which had become greatly impaired, was the impelling motive. Be this as it may, the tender sympathies of their old Kentucky friends will go warmly out to the surviving sister, Miss Mary Bacon, in her lonely grief, in a land of comparative strangers, over the loss of her loved ones, than whom no purer Christian woman or better and more upright man ever lived. Speaking more especially of Langston M. Bacon the writer can truthfully say, from an intimate friendship of nearly half a century, that in all his wide acquaintance with men he has never known a more thoroughly high principled and honorable man or a more unselfish and generous friend.

Peace to the ashes an gentle tears to the memory of both brother and sister. L. E. H.

Gone Into Office.

Hon. Henry George, of Mayfield, the newly elected Warden of the Kentucky penitentiary, arrived here on Wednesday, took the oath of office and entered upon the discharge of his duties.

You can escape just about one half the ill's that is heir to, by being ready to take the "Discovery," out you feel dull, languid, "out of sorts" generally — then you may say "I don't let them get any further." Bring this system up with Dr. Price's Golden Medical Discovery. That prevents as well as invigorates the body and kidneys, improves the blood, sharpens the appetite, improves digestion and restores health and vigor.

For all diseases caused by a disordered liver or immature blood—Dyspepsia, Biliousness, the affections, the "Discovery" is the only remedy certain and effective that it can be guaranteed. It does not benefit or cure, you have your money back. It's not only the best, but it's the cheapest blood-purifier sold, no matter how many doctors you see offer for it.

With this, you pay only for the good you get.

Coming at Last.

A shipment of iron for the new St. Clair street bridge was made by the King Bridge Company from Cleveland, Ohio, several days ago and is expected to arrive here any day. Three of the company's workmen are in the city awaiting its arrival and it begins to look like the bridge which, according to the contract, was to have been completed on Wednesday, will be erected after a while.

Admitted the Facts.

Newspaper editors have to be very careful in opening their columns for statements. But aware that the Dr. Miles' Medical Co. are responsible, we make room for the following testimony from R. K. Hartstein, Frankfort, who for two years noticed a stoppage or skipping of the pulse, his left side got so tender he could not lie on it, his heart fluttered, he was alarmed, went to different doctors, was relieved at first by Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, cured him. The elegant book, "New and Startling Facts," free at J. W. Gayle's. It tells all about heart and nervous diseases and many wonderful cures.

Thanksgiving Proclamation.

Gov. Brown on Wednesday issued the annual Thanksgiving proclamation, as follows;

In observance of a long-established custom, I recommend that Thursday, the 30th day of November, be set apart as a day of Thanksgiving and prayer by all the citizens of our beloved Commonwealth. Let thanks be offered to our Heavenly Father for abundant blessings and great mercies; let us comfort the afflicted; bestow gifts on the poor, and show kindness to all strangers within our gates.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the Great Seal of the Commonwealth to be affixed. Done at Frankfort, the capital, this, the fifteenth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety three, and in the one hundred and second year of the Commonwealth.

The Woods Full of Them.

It is wonderful how quickly constitutional lawyers are developed. Since the unfortunate tangle in the election of city officers came up men whom we never dreamed of being members of the legal fraternity can tell you, in one minute, more law than the Chief Justice and the entire appellate bench ever dreamed of. The fellow with such a wonderful store of knowledge should no longer hide his light under a peck measure in this bottom, but go west where his giant intellect will have room to blaze forth and daze the universe.

KILLED HIS NEIGHBOR.

Battie L. Davis Used a Shotgun on Wm. Coble With Fatal Result.

Battie L. Davis and Wm. Coble, two small farmers, living near Antioch Church, on the Stony Creek pike, had a falling out some time since and Sunday afternoon Coble went to Davis' house, when the latter received him with a double-barreled shotgun, fired two loads of BB shot into his body, causing his death in a few minutes. Mr. W. S. Polsgrove, who was coming along the pike at the time, saw the shooting, arrested Davis, brought him to town and lodged him in jail. It is said the trouble grew out of a family matter.

Both men are past the meridian of life, Davis appearing to be much the oldest, and were near neighbors. Coble was originally from York, Pennsylvania, served during the late war in a Pennsylvania regiment, for which he was drawing a pension. For several years he had been running a market wagon to this city where he was well known. His remains were buried Wednesday with the honors of the G. A. R. by the A. G. Bacon Post, of this city, of which he was a member.

Coroner Dehoney summoned a jury Monday morning, went out and held an inquest when the following verdict was returned by the jury:

"We, of the jury, find the dead body before us to be that of Wm. Coble, and that he came to his death from gun shot wounds, the gun being in the hands of one B. Davis."

A CHILD ENJOYS

The pleasant flavor, gentle action and soothing effects of Syrup of Figs, when in need of a laxative, and if the father or mother be costive or bilious, the most gratifying results follow its use; so that it is the best family remedy known and every family should have a bottle on hand.

Manual Training.

Childhood is activity personified. Activity may be directed, misdirected or suppressed. Intelligent, systematic labor, such as manual training gives, directs the child's activity into proper channels causing him to become creative, to become a producer. To be creative is the normal condition of childhood. Manual training fosters this condition. Through inattention to the child's best interests or through inability to direct his activity into proper channels or through indifference in regard to results, many parents permit children to direct, or rather to misdirect their activity and they become destructive.

Misdirected activity is always destructive, is an abnormal development. Suppressed activity induces and confirms the habit of idleness. There is no doubt that the majority of idle, lazy children are victims of suppressed activity. There is no doubt that much of the listlessness, inattention and idleness of the school-room is the result of the suppression of the pupil's activity. Idleness is the open portal to crime. The requirements which civilized society imposes upon itself are generally elevating in their tendencies, else improvement were impossible. Society forms ideals and strives to attain them. To-day, society requires that intelligence and skill be more closely related than they ever were in the past. Intelligent, systematic labor fits one for a higher sphere in life than he could occupy if possessed of mere skill only. The more thought one can put into the labor of his hands the more valuable his labor becomes. Manual training enables the pupil to put thought into his labor. It is truly pitiable to behold a human being make of himself a machine for the purpose only of moving matter from one place to another, to see him "Rest content in his darkness, a clod." Unintelligent labor is the substratum of society.

Man becomes moral as he becomes intellectually and physically able, that is, intelligent labor promotes morality. With the immediate result of his labor before him the pupil learns to love work for its own sake. He acquires habits of industry by closing the door to idleness. While satisfying his natural activity he removes the temptation to do wrong. Love of work and the habit of industry are barriers to vice and crime.

What induces the voluntary activity of the child? We answer that he exerts himself voluntarily only when he sees a practical benefit attained as a result of his effort. His effort must react upon himself either pleasurable or profitably. That the child possesses a selfish propensity is true. A selfish propensity is a natural endowment which, if unstrained until it reaches its extreme, would annihilate society. It is only by directing the current of selfishness into its right channel that the child will be lifted to that level of humanity where he will desire no more for himself than he grants to others, and will demand for others what he himself enjoys.

Then is he fitted for reciprocal union with society. Then is he able to help his fellow men and in turn receive and appropriate their assistance. To be a member of society the individual must be willing and able to co-operate with others. Co-operation is impossible without some knowledge of the duties of social humanity. In the kindergarten and in the manual training school we have the minature of society. Here the pupil learns to maintain his own rights and to respect the rights of others, their associates. Here the pupils curb selfishness by learning to co-operate with each other for mutual improvement. Here they expend their activity in profitable labor which bears the same characteristics as does the labor of practical life of later years, and requires, the expenditure of the same mental and physical powers. Here his powers of mind and muscle grow because the condition for growth, nutriment and exercise are present in proper quantity and of palatable quality.

VIEWING THE WORK.

Trip of the Congressmen on the River.

Mainly through the exertions of Hon. A. S. Berry, assisted by Hon. A. G. Caruth, M. C. Lisle and Jas. B. McCreary, a portion of the Congressional River and Harbor Committee were induced to come to this city on Friday of last week to view the work done by the Government upon the locks and dams in the river. The party consisted of the following gentlemen:

Hon. N. C. Blanchard, of Louisiana, Chairman; Gen. C. H. Grosvenor, Ohio; Hon. L. E. Barnes, of Wisconsin; Hoh. Binger Herman, of Oregon; Hon. J. W. Causey, of Delaware; Hon. J. E. Reyburn, of Pennsylvania; Hon. W. R. Ellis, of Oregon; and Messrs. F. A. G. Handy, clerk of the committee; H. G. Clement, secretary of Mr. O'Neal, of Pennsylvania; Mr. J. E. Beall, secretary of Hon. J. D. Alderson, of West Virginia; Senator Wm. Lindsay, Hons. A. S. Berry, A. G. Caruth, M. C. Lisle, Jas. B. McCreary and W. C. P. Breckinridge. Accompanied by Col. J. Stoddard Johnston, of Louisville; Gen. Jack Hendrick, Maj. Norman Gen. Lindsey, Gen. Hewitt, and numerous others.

As we stated in our last issue, they were taken in charge by a committee of the City Council and citizens Friday afternoon and conducted on board of the Gen. O. M. Poe, the Government snag-boat, and made a run down the river to Lock No. 3, viewed that work and Lock No. 4, returning to the city at 8 o'clock in the evening. After spending the night at the Capital Hotel, they again boarded the Poe the next morning at 8:30 and steamed away for High Bridge. The boat was provided with refreshments, both solid and liquid, and Maj. D. W. Lockwood, U. S. Engineer in charge of the department, Lieutenant H. E. Warterman, U. S. Engineer in charge of the river, and Capt. Jas. F. Browninski, captain of the Poe, did the honors of the boat and were ably assisted by Mayor Tobin, Councilman Gray, Ellwanger, McClure and others. The run up the river was greatly enjoyed by the visitors, who spent the time in viewing the splendid scenery, shooting at wild ducks, birds, trees on the bank, snags, &c. (Councilman Gray having provided numerous guns of various patterns for the purpose), and listening to Col. J. Stoddard Johnston, of Louisville, explain a map showing the wonderful resources of the upper Kentucky and the great need for the carrying of slack water navigation to the Three Forks, so that the wealth of coal and iron in the mountains could be floated out to market. On the way the boat stopped long enough at Locks No. 5 and 6, the latter of which stands as a monument to the engineering skill of Capt. R. S. Burnett. The committee expressed themselves greatly pleased with both works and left the impression upon the minds of all who talked with them that they would favor the placing of the river under the contract system.

Just below Lock No. 5 the pleasure yacht of Hon. Harvey Meyers, of Covington, with that gentleman and his wife on board, with several friends, was met, and salutes were fired from each boat, while the whistles screamed and every body cheered and waved their handkerchiefs. The scenery from this point to High Bridge was simply grand and was pronounced by Gen. Grosvenor superior to any to be seen upon the Hudson or in Europe.

At High Bridge General Superintendent Geo. B. Harper and General Passenger Agent C. D. Bercaw, of the Kentucky Midland, had a special train in waiting and the distinguished visitors and almost all on board took the train for Lexington. Here a number of those from Frankfort boarded the C. & O. train and returned home, but the others, after a tiresome wait of several hours for an engine to pull the train, proceeded over the Kentucky Union Railroad to Beattyville, where they arrived at 12 o'clock that night.

The private car of Superintendent Harper had been literally laden down with refreshments before it left this city, which were dispensed with a lavish hand by Messrs. Harper and Bercaw, aided by Mr. Geo. L. Payne, and the party feasted royally while the train sped through the mountain gorges to the head waters of the Kentucky.

After a night's rest at the Nineveh Hotel the party took the train and went out to one of the coal mines, which is in operation there, and saw where some of the finest bituminous coal in the world is being taken out, after which they viewed what remains of the work done on the river by the Government, and the train started for Lexington, which city was reached about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The Congressmen and several gentlemen who had accompanied them left the train, visited several stock farms near Lexington, and at 6 o'clock took the C. & O. train for Charleston, West Virginia, to inspect the Kanawha, and the Frankfort party came on home.

Every one of the visitors was delighted with his visit to Kentucky and spoke in the highest praise of the generous welcome and treatment they received while here.

Whatever good comes of this visit can be set down to the credit of Col. Al. Berry, for it was he who suggested the trip, and it will be no fault of his if the seed sown in the minds of the members of the committee while here do not bear fruit. His heart is in the matter and he is an untiring worker.

Mr. W. M. Terry, who has been in the drug business at Elkhorn, Ky., for the past twelve years, says: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives better and longer than any other cough medicine I have tried." There is good reason for this. No other will cure a cold so quickly; no other is so certain a preventive and cure for cough; no other affords much relief in cases of whooping cough. For sale by J. W. Gayle.

Dropped His Gun.

Mr. James O'Donnell was running to the L. & N. station Monday morning to put a letter on the 11 o'clock train, and just as he passed the corner of Mr. J. W. Gayle's drug store, at Ann and Broadway streets, he dropped a pistol. The hammer struck the sidewalk, exploding the cartridge. The ball passed through the clothing of Mrs. Buffin, who was passing at the time, grazing the flesh and struck the ROUNDABOUT man, who was standing in the middle of the sidewalk, in front of the drug store, on the elbow. The ball must have also struck the wall of the drug store, for its force was evidently nearly spent when it reached us, as it did not penetrate a heavy overcoat sleeve but made a blue place where it struck and stung considerably for a time.

J. W. Fairbanks,

Postmaster at Mankato, Neb., writes us as follows: I have taken but one package of your Dr. Hale's Household Tea and in the first instance have found that it done me no good. For 30 years I have been troubled with liver and kidney troubles, growing worse all the time. For the last 10 years I have not been able to do much of any work, feel dull and languid as though I could not stir. My bowels would not move often than once a week. After taking one package I am much better and now can take hold and work. Have a good appetite and bowels regular. I dyspepsia, indigestion, liver and kidney troubles, etc., it has no equal. Only 25c and 50c. a package at P. H. CARPENTER's drug store. a

Remains of an Infant Found.

Mr. Willis Rossen found a box partly out of the ground on the west face of Fort Hill, Sunday afternoon, which he dug up, and upon examination found to contain the skeleton of a child supposed to be only a few days old. He turned it over to the police who, supposing the infant to have been foully dealt with, are investigating the matter.

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT

FRANKFORT, NOVEMBER 18, 1898.

Autumn.

Autumn's leaves are falling fast,
Sheeted down by every blast.
And strewn along the ground;
And the brown and naked trees,
When shaken by the wintry breeze,
Bring forth a dismal sound.

The Red Men in the far-off West
Have lighted fires that never rest
Until the ground is bare.
We see the smoke, a misty haze,
Which rises from the crackling blaze
And fills the noon-day sun.

The many birds their winter play
Piping the leaves and let them fly
Until the daylight dies;

And when the shades of evening fall,
They gather round them, one and all,
To watch the smoke arise.

The birds still sing, but not the song
They used to sing when days were long.
Or when the fields were green.

The morning sun is bright,
But nature's hand has laid her right,
Wreath changes in the seas.

No more sparkling dew-drops lay
Like tears upon the face of day;
Or jewels from the deep;

The glistening frost now greets the eye,
And on the ridge and hillock high
We see the little sleep."

All nature wears a peaceful air
And seems to rest from toil and care.
As though her work was done;

Even the babbling brooks run slow
As onward through the fields they go,
And to the rivers run.

We cannot see the falling leaves,
And all around the gathered heaves
Are like the falling leaves.

It is a time when all will think,
And into melancholy sink,

For death is all around.

"One living in the country will note that the cattle sleep until long after the sun is up, and on the highest ground may be found.

"Choked up with leaves."

Bettystown.

During a brief visit to the above place the first of the week, we took a walk around the streets and viewed the surroundings and could not help but think there is a great future for the town.

The boom which burst there a year or two ago hurt it considerably but it seems to be recovering from the effects now. The Herman Lumber Co. have erected a large saw-mill there and will in a short time erect a furniture factory also. Last February the Beattyville & Cumberland Gap Railroad was opened—a road only nine miles long, connecting Beattyville with the Kentucky Union Railroad, where it crosses the North Fork of the Kentucky river, near Lumber Point—and since that time the business of the town has greatly increased, two coal mines have been opened, the population of the place is daily increasing in consequence, and it need not be surprising if the village of about 1,200 souls of to-day becomes a flourishing town of 5,000 inhabitants in the next five or six years. The Beattyville & Cumberland Gap Railroad was built by a company composed of Messrs. Ed., Robert and Eugene Wallace, James and John Amsden, of Versailles; Judge A. E. Richards, of Louisville, and several other parties whose names we did not learn, at a cost of $11,000 per mile, and it is earning for its owners a net profit of $1,200 per month. Ten car loads of coal and lumber are shipped every day now and the business is steadily increasing. Mr. Winder Monroe, who was raised here, is the general manager and Mr. Eugene Wallace, an old scholar of Prof. B. B. Sayre, has charge of the transportation department.

While riding on the rear platform of the train, on the way home, in conversation with Hon. J. E. Reyburn, of Pennsylvania, he said he did not know of a better place for one to settle than Beattyville, and if he knew of a sober, industrious young man looking for a location he would advise him to go there, as he thought the town was sure to grow rapidly. He was struck with the appearance of the coal mined there the moment he entered the office of the hotel and saw a large lump of it burning on the grate, and stood and watched it for a long time. He examined it also at the mine and said it was the best bituminous coal he ever saw, nearly as hard as anthracite, and that he intended to order a lot of it shipped to him at Washington City for use in his grates.

The Three Forks Investment Company have spent a great deal of money there in the last few years, and have erected a neat little hotel, called the Ninaweb, after an Indian chief who roamed over the mountains of that section in the early days of the State. It is now kept by Mr. Frank A. Lyons, a former Georgetown boy, in very good style, and at reasonable rates. The size of our party taxed its capacity, however, but we believe all spent a comfortable night under its roof.

The location of the town, on the side of a hill, is rather a drawback to its spreading out, but push and enterprise will overcome all obstacles, and Beattyville will come to the front in the near future.

On Thursday the returning board, consisting of County Judge B. G. Williams, Sheriff R. D. Armstrong and County Clerk N. B. Smith, in the presence of several witnesses, decided the tie by lot, which resulted in the choice of Mr. Carter Hale.

Made a Hit.

It was Decoration Day night at Visalia, California, two years ago. The theatre was packed to the doors and 'twas almost "Overture" time when little Matilda Vickers, who comes to Frankfort Monday next, sent word by the "call boy" to her manager at the front door to hasten to the stage. He did so, to find the heavy man, a handsome Kentuckian, Taylor Carroll, helplessly prostrated with cramps in the limbs, and Miss Vickers fairly hysterical over the possible dismissal of the audience in consequence. Taking in the situation at a glance and knowing, from hearing them spoken so often, the heavy man's lines, he instantly decided to play the part himself or bluff it through, but a sorry bluff it was, even though it saved a $40 house, for Mr. Manager had never "acted out on the stooge" in his life, but here what he did do and how he made a hit (though expensively to himself) with his star, and all unwittingly, too.

He gave that tow-headed call boy a week's pay in a large "dollar," kept him on a regular two minute interval "trot" to the adjoining "beer store," and back with "bracers" while he "made up" as a heavy villain, and by the time that the curtain went up was "tuned" to almost any sized "bluff" should his memory only not forsake him or "stage fright" not overcome his temporary courage.

The curtain went up nearly on time, and strange to say he managed to scrape and gag through the first and second acts, putting in the intervals for overtures stowing away more "bracers," with a slide one or two between times, until time for the great effort in the last act, when as the villain he is supposed to become intoxicated and discloses his true identity in a maudlin conversation with himself, which the hero overhears and straightway makes use of to finish the story and play as most plays are properly and speedily.

The curtain went up on act 3 and just as that "very bluff actor" started to make his entrance that small boy gave him a "tip" and an inspiration at the same time. He rushed up behind him and said quickly: "You're jagged now Mister, act natural, Boss, an' you'll frog 'em and hog 'em" he did. He got on all right, jabbered enough of the lines to give the meaning, made some beautiful pirouettes and waltz movements, knocked over a couple of chairs, confessing his villainy loudly (he knew the hinge of that story), almost in the ears of the eaves-dropping hero, finally did a couple of thundering "falls" and was hustled off to jail by the property man disguised as a policeman amidst the deafening applause of that Cali ornia audience.

It "went" evidently, the receipts were saved and the star satisfied, but not having to encounter the villain in the last act she never knew that "props" at the wrong time that night got the villain out of the way before he went to sleep in dead earnest on a settee on the stage.

Are your children subject to croup? If so, you should never be without a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is a certain cure for croup, and has never been known to fail. There is no danger in giving this Remedy in large and frequent doses, as it contains nothing injurious. 50 cent bottles for sale by

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.	Matrimonial.	EX-WARDEN NORMAN'S PRESENTS.	Court of Claims.	HORRIBLE DEATH
The Protest Filed and Vacancies Filled.	GORMAN DOWNEY — Mr. J. H. Gorman, of Lexington, and Miss Josie Downey, of this county, were quietly married at the Catholic parsonage Tuesday morning by Rev. Father W. E. Gorey, and left immediately after the ceremony for a short bridal trip.	Handsomely Remembered by Guards and Prisoners.	The Court of Claims, which was in session from Monday until Thursday, transacted considerable business and adjourned over until Monday next. On Thursday the following officers were elected:	OF Mrs. Browder's Brother.
THURSDAY, Nov. 16 '93 President Lewis and all the members were present. The reading of the minutes of the last meeting was dispensed with.	The reading of the minutes of the last meeting was dispensed with.	Just after retiring from the office of Warden of the Kentucky Penitentiary on Wednesday, Mr. Sam A. Norman was presented by the guards, clerk and other attaches of the institution with an elegant silver tea set, while the convicts presented him with a diamond pin. The presentation speech was made by his successor, Warden Henry George, in his happiest manner and Mr. Norman responded in appropriate terms. There was general regret expressed by all connected with the prison at losing so kind and considerate, yet firm and just official head, but their sorrow was tempered by the knowledge that he will still be connected with the institution in the capacity of a contractor. The following action of the officials of the prison speaks for itself:	Keeper of the Poor-House—Wm. Heatt.	Mr. Ben W. Johnson, of Louisville, was asleep in an upper room over his livery stable, on Third street, in that city, Wednesday afternoon, when the building took fire from a stove pipe which passed through the ceiling. Mr. Johnson's nephew, who was in the office below, ran up to his room, half pulled him from the bed, awakened him, and told him to make his escape as soon as possible. Mr. Johnson arose, gathered up his clothing and started to follow the young man down stairs, and it was supposed he had gotten out of the building all right until the fire was sufficiently subdued for the firemen to enter the room, when he was found lying upon the floor, horribly burned but still alive. He was taken to the City Hospital, where he died at 7 o'clock in the evening.
A communication was received from the Mayor conveying a statement to the council of the sale of twenty-five St. Clair street bridge bonds. The September coupons to them were detached and made a part of the report. The communication was filed, and the coupons were burned in the presence of the council by Chairman Lewis. The Treasurer's receipt accompanied the communication for the money, which had been turned over to him by the Mayor. Little and Miss Cecile Henderson were married on Tuesday last, the 14th inst., at the home of the bride's parents in Hartwell, Ohio. The bride is the daughter of Rev. Howard Henderson, formerly of this city, and has many friends here, where she has frequently visited her aunt, Mrs. John C. Mastin. The happy young people will be at home to their friends after December 12th, at No. 32 Clark street, Cincinnati.	Commissioners of the Poor-House—R. D. Armstrong and J. W. Lyon.	Mr. Ben W. Johnson appeared before the council and asked that a committee be appointed by the council to confer with a committee from the county court, in relation to making repairs on what is known as the Boulevard road. The President appointed the street committee to act in the above capacity.	KENTUCKY PENITENTIARY, November 15th, 1893.—At a meeting of the officials of the Kentucky Penitentiary held in relation to the resignation of Col. S. A. Norman, retiring Warden, G. H. Stone was called to the chair, and Rev. W. B. Cooper selected as Secretary.	The deceased was a brother of Mrs. S. P. Browder, of this city, and she went to Louisville Thursday day to attend his funeral.
Mr. Hendrick moved that the council proceed with the election to fill the vacancies of J. E. Miles and J. M. Todd. Adopted.	Upon motion of M. A. Rooney, Jas. B. Kelley and Ed. McGath were appointed a committee to draft resolutions suitable to the occasion, which were as follows, viz:	You will see by this letter I am once more at home, much to the satisfaction of the "gude mon" who just a week before made me good-bye with so much fear and mis-trust; but no one tried to steal or rob me, and I didn't get lost, and my enjoyment was beyond words. I wish I only had time to take notes of what I saw, but I was there so short a time that was impossible. There was such a bewildering amount to see. It was like a scene from the Arabian Nights—here, there, everywhere it was a feast for mind and soul—wonderfully beautiful was all I saw—a fairyland—and the White City, a modern Babylon. I saw nothing but what was beautiful, and my visit was one of rare enjoyment throughout.	SHILOH'S CURE.
Mr. Hendrick nominated C. M. Bridgeford to fill the vacancy of J. M. Todd from the Third Ward. Mr. Bridgeford received five votes and was declared elected.	Mrs. David Nicol has one of the handsomest displays of chrysanthemums in her flower pit we have ever seen. They are of all shades of color and of such delicate tints as to defy the artist's brush to reproduce them. Each specimen is large and elegant in appearance, especially the variety known as "Good Gracious." Mrs. Nicol is justly proud of her flowers and takes pleasure in showing them to her friends.	Resolved, That we hereby express our sincere regret that our pleasant connections in official duty are about to end.	Resolved, That it is with high gratification we review our past association, unmarred by a single unpleasantness.	SHILOH'S VITALIZER.
Mr. Joseph Weitzel was nominated to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Mr. John E. Miles, and, he receiving five votes, was declared elected as a councilman from the Second Ward.	Prof. Lee.	Resolved, That we desire to declare our profound respect and admiration for Col. Norman both as a private citizen and a public official, believing him to fill the full measure of perfect manhood in both capacities. Judge Holt appeared before the council with a petition of protest in the election held in this city on the 7th instant, signed by Messrs. Milam, Furr, Smith, Gray and others, and asked that the petition be filed, which was ordered done by the Chairman, there being no objection.	The greatest living Mesmerist will be at the Opera House next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and if you want to spend an evening of real fun you should not fail to secure your tickets and be present at his entertainments. He comes to us highly recommended by the press and people, and his entertainments are of the highest order. MR. EDITOR: Why is it the teachers and trustees of the common school districts will not inform themselves in regard to the common school law? Here in our district the trustees (who have but two) are trying to collect money through their teacher, of the patrons of the school without any authority of the law. If, they will read Secs. 79 and 80 of common school law, they will find the law to guide them in their acts as trustees. Some people don't know the law is over. A PATRON. The Connecting Link.

The Street Railway Company commenced work Tuesday afternoon putting down ties on Ann street from Broadway to Mero, preparatory to laying the rails connecting the older portion of the road on the north side with the new, and now have the work of track-laying about complete. All the poles are up and the next move will be to stretch the wires. They will have plenty of time in which to get their machinery set at the power house and order their cars before the new bridge is up, as they do not expect to commence operating the line until then.

Making Office Rooms.

Mr. Jerome Weitzel has had the ground between the ladies' entrance to the Capital Hotel and the corner of Main and Ann taken away from the side of the hotel for several feet, built a retaining wall next to the sidewalk, which will be capped with an iron railing. He will then cut down the windows of the old billiard saloon and turn it into office rooms, which will be quite an improvement.

Fair and Wilde.

Not on this broad continent alone, but in material breeding tropical regions, in Guatimala, Mexico, South America, the Intumus of Paraguay, etc., etc., Hottentot Stomach Bitters afford an habitual protection against malaria. The miner, the freshly arrived immigrant, the tiller of the virgin soil newly robed of its forest by the axe of the pioneer, find in the superb anti-febrile specific a preserver against the poisonous miasms which in vast districts rich in natural resources are to be found. It cures disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, fortifies those who use it against rheumatic ailments and fosters by outdoor exposure; infuses great warmth into a frame injured by rigorous tempests, and causes the skin to burn in morning and evening mists and vapors, with hurtfulness strengthens the weak and conquers incipient kidney trouble.

To California, The Land of Sunshine, Fruit And Flowers.

The Midwinter Exposition already much talked of, bids fair to rival the great fair that has just closed at Chicago—not in size, perhaps; but certainly so in originality, in richness and in delighted visitors, who will unanimously agree that the Pacific Coast is worth many times the time and money spent to visit it in its return of delightful climate, mellow sun-light, wondrous growth of vegetation, and the heretofore unheard-of not work or industries connected with fruit raising, and the shipping of the product.

The Queen & Crescent Route is the desirable line to and from California, as the first step to this end, California rates have been reduced, and every one may find the cost of such a trip within his means.

As for equipment, it is the only line by which you can travel from Cincinnati to San Francisco, absolutely without change.
